This month sees the recommencement of many of the Church organisations. May we announce that, in addition to the weekly provision of Sunday School classes for the 5 - 7 year olds (Climbers) and the 7 - 11 year olds (Explorers), we are now starting a Pathfinder group for those over the age of 11. We also have a creche for babies and toddlers to enable parents to be free to take part in the services.

We aim to do everything to make it possible for families to come to Church together. Every Sunday, including the monthly Family Services, we serve coffee after the service. You would be most welcome to join us. Come, and bring the family!

Show schedules and entry forms will soon be put through the letter box of every house in the Village. This year the Village Show will take place at the Village Centre on Saturday September 11th, and there will be a range of entry classes to suit everyone. This Show is always an enjoyable and successful event, and like to especially welcome newcomers to the Village, or anyone entering for the first time, as well as our regulars.

There will also be stalls run by other Village organisations, Skittles, Side Shows, Steam Train and plenty of attractions. Please come along - we promise you will have a good time.

VILLAGE NORTHS

In some ways, man kind has been slower than the animal kingdom in its discoveries. Men of the Ancient Chinese civilization have received the credit for the invention of paper, but wasps were making paper before our ancestors had learned to use flakes of flint as cutting instruments. A wasp will alight on a piece of timber and scrape tiny slivers of wood - chewing these to form a pulp. This is used to build a platform, on the underside of which it constructs cells of paper like those which a bee builds from wax. The queen wasp lays an egg in each cell, and workers feed the newly hatched grub until it is ready to change into an adult. They then seal the cell, leaving it to emerge as a fully fledged perfect insect. Most of these nests are built in underground hollows, though others - like the Norwegian wasp (more common in the North of England than here) build a nest round the branches of a tree. This is sometimes as big as a football and as round, with the exception of an elongation at the base where is the entrance. The outer covering is like brown paper and it is wiser to leave the structure to its builders. Left to mind their own business, wasps do not attack people, and in fact are good friends to gardeners, as they take caterpillars etc. to feed their grubs. A wasp not trapped or molested - goes cheerfully about its own affairs without attacking anyone.
