On politics and faith and the importance of a good cup of coffee

Once upon a morning not very long ago a slim young District Councillor shared with a portly middle-aged person-of-the-cloth a cup of something from the back of the vicar's cupboard that purported to be coffee but might actually have been gravy browning. Despite the embarrassing nastiness of the vicar's emergency coffee supplies the polite young District Councillor managed to drink half a mugful and remained smiling and enthusiastic throughout (a thousand blessings be showered upon her!) After this iniquitous test of good manners (not really!) the vicar and the Politician then began to talk.

Many people are of the view that faith has no place in the public square; that politics and faith should not mix and most particularly that faith- and specifically the Church- should keep it's sticky beak out of matters of politics. In a way I can see the point. Given the way that over the centuries powerful individuals within the Church have sometimes exploited the institution for their own gain, sometimes causing great misery and injustice to many along the way there is some justification for such wariness although I don't think the track record of secular politicians is very attractive either. The trouble with the "keep 'em separate" campaign is that Christianity is inherently political. At heart it is about justice, release of the oppressed, looking after the poor, helping the rich take responsibility for others and loving people into a community that is all about mutuality, respect and putting others first so that everyone can fulfil their potential.

Over the revolting coffee, Abigail (your District Councillor) and I (the vicar) discovered that the passions of community politics and the passions of faith are in fact the same (Clever old God) The motivations may differ but both she and I have discovered the same things about Braunston, the same issues that make life here extremely difficult for many. We both have ideas to put on the table that will make our village even more the kind of place which is good for everyone who lives here, old, infirm and isolated; young, vigorous and bored and everyone in between. With Council and Church thinking creatively and working passionately together we could see some real blessings on Braunston. Watch this space. Our next meeting is diarised and I've promised to buy some decent coffee.

LETTERS

From the Editor

Sadly this is my last issue of the BVN as Pauline and I are re-locating to Norfolk in July. Jenni Burton who has been my right hand over the last couple of years takes over as Editor and is being supported by her husband Chris (a regular contributor) with Steve Rolt remaining the Parish Council representative.

We have very much enjoyed the "Braunston Experience," a very special community, but it is in our nature to constantly seek new adventures and experiences and whilst we have the energy and health we will keep going! We are keeping our property here in Braunston so a future challenge may well be to move back!

I would particularly like to thank Jenni for her support, all the distributors who in all weathers deliver the BVN to your homes, all the contributors and everyone for the warmth of welcome and friendship we have been shown.

Please send all future items for the BVN direct to: burton_jenni@yahoo.co.uk.

Note from new Editor, you are a hard act to follow, I will miss the challenge of getting everything in on time and especially the biscuits!!

Jenni Burton

Dear Sir

Sue Duddington's letter on the place of the vicar's message in the BVN raises a number of interesting issues, including the fact that you decided to publish it at all.

The BVN is part funded and published by All Saints. The editor is ultimately responsible to his publisher. It shows courage on the part of you as editor, and free-thinking from your publishers, that you are prepared to give space to the views of those who apparently disagree with the ethos of the magazine. As we have seen in evidence to the Leveson enquiry recently, it is a freedom that Rupert Murdoch would be unlikely to give to his editors at, say, the Sun.

If the church, as part-sponsor of the BVN, is to have a place in the magazine (and I believe it should) then where else should that be than on page three (not page one, as Sue writes)?

We all know what Rupert Murdoch would put on Page Three, but I suspect that many villagers would find that even more objectionable than having the vicar there, no matter what it might do for readership of the BVN.

If there are those who do not like the established priorities of the BVN, there is of course nothing to stop them from producing their own wholly secular magazine. Nothing, that is, apart from the need to find the necessary enthusiasm, time, money and commitment. As someone who has in the past produced such a magazine with no financial or organisational back-up (and who recently produced the souvenir programme for Running Scared on a similar basis) I think that we owe All Saints and the Parish Council a debt of gratitude for giving us the magazine that we have.

In reality, there is not enough big news each month in Braunston to justify a full page lead story. When there has been, the BVN has come up trumps with, for example, the front page pictures of the Braunston Village Weekend; or the results of the consultation exercise on district Council representation splashed across the cover. But those are the exceptions. For the most part, village life revolves around the organisations and institutions of the village - including the church. What other organisation has a better claim to top billing on a regular basis?

There may be some merit in, say, a page three "masthead" for the BVN, complete with something like a mission statement, setting out the purpose of the magazine. There could even be a table of contents to guide those who need help in turning beyond the vicar's message. But let's keep the vicar as our Page Three Girl. With her clothes on.

Yours etc

John Foster

Diamond Jubilee Church Fair Success

The decision to relocate the All Saints' Church Fete and rename it "The Church Fair" revived an historic tradition of the Green being used for the village Feast/Fair. It was a great community event judged an outstanding success much enjoyed by all who came. New features this year included a traditional fairground organ and antique swing ride, the children's fancy dress competition and the Pimms Tent. Already a list of additional features for 2013 is being considered and it is obvious this event will become a feature event of the Braunston calendar.

All Saints' would like to thank the following for their support of the event : Committee members, Revd. Robert Hill for swings and organ, The Scouts, The Village Hall, All those who brought along Classic Cars, Braunston Parish Council, stall holders, Chris the butcher, Raffle sponsors Staverton Park Azure Leisure Club, Watsons Fuels, Pure Flow Cleaning Services, Braunston Fryer, The places who sold raffle tickets : BVN, Londis Village Stores, Poppies, Bottom Lock Shop, The Braunston Fryer, The Gongoozler, Chris & the Canal Society, Headteacher Braunston CofE School, Amanda for Balloons & Posh Tea Room, Everyone who donated items for the stalls, Royal British Legion, BVGA who lent us some tables and everyone who came and spent their money so generously

Thank you.

DIAMOND JUBILEE PICNIC at BURGHLEY HOUSE

The Queen stepped out of her maroon helicopter wearing a lovely light green outfit and was escorted into Burghley House. We were 200 yards from where she had landed, waiting with 10,000 others who were representing the parishes of 4 counties, charities and uniformed organisations. The counties all had marquees featuring their county 'treasures' and there was a stage and a bandstand on which choirs and bands performed throughout the day and large screens on which to watch the proceedings.

After her comfort break (perhaps a reviving cup of tea after a morning in Nottingham !) her Majesty left the house, planted a tree and then was driven at walking pace alongside the barriers keeping us hoards at bay. She passed within 10 feet and the smile and waves seemed just for us ! She lunched out of sight with the 'great and the good' whilst we picnicked. Sadly the P.A. system was poor so when a speech was made to her we could only hear the odd word and we presume she replied as we could see her on the screen but not hear anything. Three cheers were raised before she passed us closely again as she drove through the rest of the field on her way to Stamford and Corby.

On their way out through Stamford Peter and Brenda waved to children waiting to see the Queen and had lots of cheering and flag waving in return. A lovely way to end their day ! Chris and Peter stayed on to see the promised air display. The Red Arrows flew very low over the field streaming red, white and blue and were soon followed by The Blades; four bright blue planes which put on a breath-taking show. Equally stunning was an aerobatic display by a Spitfire and Hurricane. What an amazing day !

Thanks to the Parish Council who invited us to represent Braunston for them.

Peter & Brenda Hobbs and Chris & Peter Grossart

DIAMOND JUBILEE CELEBRATIONS PRAYER

With thankful hearts and gladness,

We thank you for our successful Diamond Jubilee Celebrations on 2nd June 2012,

For all the camaraderie of the helpers and organisers,

For all the cake makers, and for all the stall holders who (some in the cold and rain) collected all the money,

For all the plants and hanging baskets, all grown at home with TLC,

For our Revd. Sarah who was helping everywhere she could,

For all the ladies (and one gentleman who I saw washing up) who made all the cups of tea that we drank,

For all the smiling faces of all the Mums and Dads,

For all the happy faces of the children having fun,

For all the food such as the Hot Dogs, Burgers and Bacon Rolls which kept us going from noon to 5pm,

Bust most of all we thank you, ever one of you, for all your hard work and for

All the money collected, what a magnificent amount of money for such a miserable summers' day in Braunston.

Lottery support for local Sight Loss Charity

A vital support service for people with visual impairment in Northamptonshire today receives over £290,000 as part of the latest awards from the Big Lottery Fund. The money comes from BIG's Reaching Communities programme, working across the country to help improve the lives of disadvantaged people.

The funding supports Northamptonshire Association for the Blind's (NAB) innovative Enable Service which helps adults and children who are blind or partially sighted to live independently within the community and make the most of what life has to offer.

The service includes Home Visits, Emotional Support, Advice on health, welfare and coping with daily living tasks, Demonstration of specialist aids and equipment, Interest and Social Groups, Befriending and Sight Centres both in Northampton and Kettering -plus a Mobile Sight Centre which travels the county.

John Wood, General Secretary of NAB said: "This funding will ensure that we can develop our important services throughout the county, by taking support and advice to those blind and partially sighted people who so rely on us, either directly into their homes or to their local community. We will still depend on our many dedicated volunteers to assist us in providing these vital services and this funding will enable our staff and volunteers to work together for the benefit of everyone".

Mick McGrath, Big Lottery Fund Head of Region for the East Midlands said: "Northamptonshire Association for the Blind provides a vital service that enables blind and visually impaired people to remain independent and develop a support network so they don't feel isolated. I am delighted they are receiving funding this month, which will support the continuation of this life-changing work."

To find out more about services provided by Northamptonshire Association for the Blind please call their Helpline: 01604 719193 or visit www.nab.org.uk

News From The Village Hall

The improvements to the Village Hall continue and have already boosted the use of our facilities. The Hall was well used during the recent Fete and we were pleased with the many appreciative comments. Enquiries for party functions have already increased and we know of at least one possible Wedding Reception being scheduled for a few months time.

In order to help look after our clients the Village Hall team has been strengthened by the appointment of a new Booking Officer. Up to now this has been one of the functions handled by the Chairman but it now needs a specialist. We are delighted to announce the appointment of Hannah Smith as Booking Officer. Hannah will be well known to many of you already because of her past work with the Toddler Group and her family's general involvement with the Village Hall.

You can discuss your possible booking needs with Hannah on 01788 890704

The Jubilee Celebrations

Amongst the Narrowboats taking part in the Jubilee Parade was the 1909 Steamer, NB President which is frequently seen in Braunston along with its butty Kildare. I was talking to the crew at Stoke Bruerne last weekend as they stopped overnight on their way back North. They are so proud to have been the crew selected for this event, and will recount their experiences for many years I am sure.

Their special story about their day and how special it was goes something like this.

Their cruising position and speed etc was closely monitored for obvious reasons, this made it more difficult to stand out in the crowd. What they managed to do was to slightly drop back from the boat in front so that there was a gap developing. As they then became level with the Queens position all the crew lined up along the boat, they sounded the steam whistle (which is quite noisy) and in unison the crew all raised their caps. This they swear drew the attention of the Queen and her party to President, and resulted in a special smile and a regal wave for NB President and its crew.

A day I think they will remember for the rest of their lives.

Braunston Canal Society

We finished off May with a second gardening party at the Stop House, progress is evident but there remains quite a lot of work to do. We are grateful for the plants and bulbs we have been given, they have been potted up pending suitable planting areas being cleared.

We had our first Lock painting work party in June, although a little short of volunteers on the day we did complete about 90% of the work needed on Lock 6. We hope to be back there again on the 12th July when we will complete the work on Lock 6 and then move onto Lock 5.

Anyone who thinks they may enjoy one of our work parties is welcome to contact me or just turn up on the day.

ARE YOU WATCHING YOUR NEIGHBOURHOOD?

The role of a Neighbourhood Watch co-ordinator is both interesting and of great benefit to the community. It provides an important link between the public and the police force. The more members the better to try to prevent crime in our area. The task is not onerous and there is no need to 'be on duty' at any specific time or in fact to go out after dark unless you want to. It is possible to report any incident of crime by calling 101. One of the current problems in Braunston according to P.C.S.O Kev Thomson is that of young people riding bicycles after dark with no lights displayed. Unless bikes show lights front and back they are serious danger of not being seen by motorists and therefore of sustaining serious injury. (Please parents, check that your children are safe by checking the lights on their bicycles).

If you are interested in joining this scheme please contact Julie Jarrett 07508196255

BRAUNSTON PARCELS

The number of parcels sent from Braunston to our troops in Afghanistan since April 2007 now stands at 1060. An incredible achievement, thank you!

I recently received a letter from Lt. Col. Alex Potts the commanding officer of the four squadrons of the King's Royal Hussars currently serving in Afghanistan. In the letter he said that he had spent some time with the recipients of our parcels - D Squadron. He stated that those members of D Squadron have been extremely busy during the first month of their deployment, having been on 17 operations in 30 days. Apparently they are deployed in the most demanding and dangerous locations in Helmand Province and are working in temperatures exceeding 40c. He also said that the soldiers are true professionals who go about their work with confidence and purpose. He thanked us for our support and said that the soldiers enjoy receiving our parcels. He ended his letter with this quote:- "Thank you for helping my soldiers know that the British public care".

My thanks too go to everyone here in Braunston who continue to help boost the confidence and morale of our troops whilst they are engaged in such dangerous work.

BRAUNSTON WALKERS

Ellastone (c 11 miles)
Saturday 16/6/2012

This walk takes in some superb countryside on the Staffordshire side of the River Dove just south of Ashbourne. Most people drive into the Peak District and probably don't spare a glance at this area but it is really worth a visit. Eight brave souls met up and drove to the tiny village of Wootton which lays in a valley below the brooding Weaver Hills which we would experience first hand after lunch. We set off along a narrow lane, gouged out of the local rock, to turn left along the road towards Ellastone. After about a 100 yards or so a footpath goes right off the road through some long, wet grass (not the last that we had to wade through) over a field to reach a lethally slippery slide and cut through a dense woodland alongside a deer proof fence. Our path then followed between trees to reach a small road and then a footpath on the right that took us through a gap in the wall designed for slimmer people than I, and then through a gate to emerge in the beautiful grounds of Wootton Lodge. This is a fantastic deer park with a huge stately home, owned by the Bamford family who own JCB. A yellow sign reminded us not to wander off the path but this is a little difficult as the signs run out. We continued over the fields and reached a gate into a strip of woodland finally emerging just above the magnificent house which is currently covered in unsightly scaffolding but on a previous visit it was revealed in all its glory looking like a Scottish baronial castle. The path continues through the magnificent grounds past a carp lake where fish were coasting along on the surface then through an intricate brick exit to a road.

The weather forecast for today was a typical barmy June day, you know what I mean, torrential rain and blowing a gale, but so far we were lucky and although cloudy it was at least dry. We climbed a hill on the road and then traversed a field of long grass that clung to our boots like sticky toffee pudding. After three fields and a small road the path leads over a thankfully cut field to reach Ellastone village. We visited the old church and then out through the graveyard and downhill to cross a road and a small river before entering the Calwich Abbey grounds. There is no longer an abbey but the path leads on above the River Dove and Derbyshire to our right. After pausing for Nigel's wine gums and chocolates, he really spoils us, we crossed another field of waist high grass to reach the banks of the River Dove. We followed the fast flowing river through several fields before arriving at Middle Mayfield and the excellent Rose and Crown where we quaffed Marston's Pedigree and delicious baguettes. Highly recommended. After a brief stop we crossed the busy B5032 and then followed a lane eventually reaching Hollow Lane (an excellent description) on the left. This leads uphill and apart from negotiating around a felled tree we made it to the top, crossed a field and the Limestone Way, around Dydon Farm before going steeply downhill into a deep forest gorge. What goes downhill must go up and we climbed puffing out of the gorge on wooden steps to reach the village of Stanton, ever closer to the looming Weaver Hills. Our path leaves Stanton opposite the church and goes over fields full of bleating sheep and along a waterlogged wooded valley called Hobble Wood (and we did hobble) then over a wooden bridge and steeply up the side of the Weaver Hills. Pausing for breath and to look at the amazing views we finally reached a small road and then the heavy rain arrived with no trees for cover we quickly skirted the hill downhill past an unconcerned bull, to reach a gate on the left. The rain stopped and from here the track takes us back to Wootton, the cars and closer to home for a well earned cuppa!! A cracking walk in an undiscovered and beautiful area.

Our next walk in

July will be either Grandborough or Ashby St Ledgers and we will meet at 10 at the village hall.

WHAT'S FOR TEA

Do you, like me get stuck for things to make for tea? Why don't we share some of our favourite recipes? Send to me at burton_jenni@yahoo.co.uk and we will try to include one each month. Here is one of my favourites:-

Chicken Cacciatore - Serves 4

- Olive Oil, 1 Onion Chopped
- 2 Garlic Cloves Chopped, 2 tins Cherry Tomatoes
- 4 tbs of Mascarpone, Handful fresh Basil
- Mushrooms, Salt & Pepper
- 4 Boneless& skinless Chicken Breasts
- " Preheat oven to 190 /170C fan, Gas 5
- " Heat 3 tbs Olive Oil in a pan then add onions and garlic and fry until softened and just beginning to colour
- " Add the tomatoes and mushrooms if using and salt & pepper. Simmer for 15mins until the mixture is thick
- " Remove from the heat and add the mascarpone, most of the basil leaves and most of the olives if using.
- " In another pan heat a little oil and brown the chicken breasts on both sides.
- " Transfer the chicken to a baking dish, pour over the tomato sauce and bake in the oven for 30mins until the chicken is cooked thoroughly.
- " Scatter over the remaining basil leaves and add a few more chopped olives to decorate.
- " Serve with rice or with potatoes and green vegetable
